Retraction Notice

This article has been retracted based on the discovery that the submitting author, Dr. Ahmed Elkhoully, invited his wife to serve as a peer reviewer without properly disclosing this relationship. As this fraudulent peer review was completed and taken into consideration when determining whether to publish this article, Cureus has no choice but to retract this article due to this author misconduct and falsification of peer review.

An additional four articles submitted by Dr. Elkhoully have been retracted for the same reason. Cureus greatly regrets that these fraudulent peer reviews were not identified prior to publication. Dr. Elkhoully's residency program has been notified as is consistent with COPE guidelines.
